Last year, GRUPO SURA achieved its highest levels of consolidated revenues and controlling net income in its history, while improving its profitability and deleveraging indicators and announcing its projections for 2023.

Last year's results were driven by higher premiums and an increased bottom line in the case of Suramericana; the resilience of SURA Asset Management; as well as higher revenues via the equity method from Bancolombia, Grupo Nutresa and Grupo Argos. In addition to the financial progress seen, significant headway was made with our social, human and natural capital.

Grupo SURA posted an all-time high of COP 2.1 trillion in controlling net income for 2022

The Company's bottom line rose by 47% year-on-year with total revenues standing at COP 6.5 billion higher than for the previous year to close at COP 31.4 billion.

These results reflect the trust of 45.2 million people and companies that are SURA clients throughout the region; the implementation of a strategy with a long-term vision, based on a portfolio of leading companies in their own particular industries; the recovery with Suramericana's premiums and earnings; the resilience and efficiencies of SURA Asset Management; as well as the positive levels of revenues obtained from Grupo Bancolombia, Grupo Argos and Grupo Nutresa via the equity method.

Before continuing, it is important to note that the results at year-end 2022 reflect the accounting effect of ceasing to recognize Protección via the equity method to consolidating its results as a subsidiary of SURA Asset Management as of November 2022, along with the subsequent creation of the insurance company Asulado, details of which can be found further on.

With operating revenues of COP 31.4 trillion (USD 7,367 million*) in 2022, Grupo SURA recorded a compound annual growth rate of 15.6% over the last 7 years. Controlling net income came to COP 2.1 trillion (USD 488 million), almost double that of 2015 (COP 1.1 trillion).

In 2022, our subsidiaries maintained a disciplined control over their operating expense and made adjustments to their models in order to create greater efficiencies. The 22% increase in this indicator is related to the higher growth dynamics of the insurance business as well as the commissions charged in the different channels.

Consolidated operating earnings stood at COP 3.7 trillion (USD 865 million), for an increase of 43%, notwithstanding the increased claims rate on the part of Suramericana and lower investment income from SURA AM's legal reserves, as discussed below.

Considering the aforementioned bottom line, the return on equity (adjusted ROE) exceeded expectations by 9.9%. It should be noted that the equity attributable to all Grupo SURA shareholders came to COP 33.7 trillion (USD 7,012 million*), for an increase of 21% compared to year-end 2021.

*Restated figures in US dollars: Figures taken from the Company's Statement of Comprehensive Income, restated using the average exchange rate for 2022: COP 4,255.4; * Figures taken from the Statement of Financial Position based on the exchange rate corresponding to year-end 2022: COP 4,810.2.

COP 1,280

This proposal contemplates distributing a total of COP 741.413 million in four equal installments of COP 320 per share on the following dates: April 12, July 4 and October 2, 2022, and a last one on January 2, 2024.

 63%

2022 was a year of recovery after sustaining two years of impacts due to the pandemic with net income closing at COP 490,377 million, thereby exceeding the initially budgeted figure. This was driven by a 24% growth in retained earned premiums, with increases in the Property and Casualty (27%), Life (17%) and Health Care (19%) insurance segments; adjustments and efficiencies with the Company's operating model; a more stable claims rate at year-end having been on the rise given higher costs in the Car and Health Care solutions. The bottom line also benefited from higher investment income from inflation-indexed assets.

As mentioned above, the results of this subsidiary show the accounting effect of consolidating Protección (Colombia) and Crecer (El Salvador) as subsidiaries as of November and December, as well as forming a new insurance company, Asulado. Consequently, controlling net income stood at COP 440,667 million, driven by the recovery of investment income from legal reserves during the fourth quarter; the comparable reduction in operating expense; as well as its resilient fee and commission income, in spite of the effect of the regulatory cuts to the commissions charged on the Mexican Savings and Retirement business, the authorized withdrawals in Peru, and a more challenging year due to external factors facing the voluntary savings business (personal and institutional savings), now grouped together under SURA Investments.

The Board thus appointed is comprised of the independent members Jaime Alberto Arrubla Paucar, Guillermo Villegas Ortega and María Ximena Lombana Villalba, and the equity members Jaime Velásquez Botero, David Yanovich Wancier, Gabriel Gilinski Kardonski and Ángela María Tafur Domínguez.

Several interventions on the part of the shareholders during this Extraordinary Meeting referred to the fact that this new Board of Directors should focus all its actions and decisions on the Company's best interests.

A WELL-BALANCED FOUR-CAPITAL FRAMEWORK

Global indices and reports recognize the progress made by Grupo SURA

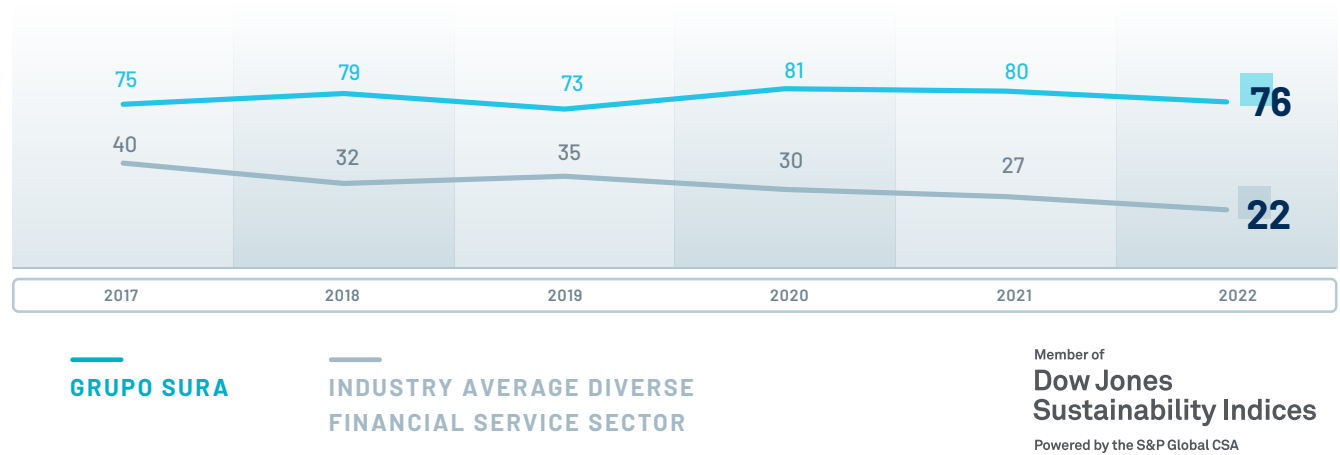

The long-term development of a strategy in pursuit of greater levels of sustainable profitability was also evident in recent external evaluations of Grupo SURA's performance. They also reflect the performance of both Suramericana and Sura Asset Management together with their own subsidiaries throughout the region

Grupo SURA was the sixth best rated Company from the Diverse Financial Services industry in terms of its best practices upon being included by S&P in its Dow Jones Sustainability Global Index (DJSI) back in December, this based on a Corporate Sustainability Assessment of the Company's economic, social and environmental aspects.

S&P also included the Company in its Sustainability Yearbook 2023, as one of the 708 most sustainable companies in the world. This recognizes the progress made in areas such as Risk and Crisis Management, Business Ethics, Attracting and Retaining Human Talent, the Quality of our Social and Environmental Reporting, and our Corporate Citizenship.

For the last 12 years in a row Grupo SURA has been included in the DJSI as well as the S&P Yearbook. It is also worth noting that other companies from our investment portfolio, that are leaders in their respective sectors, were also included, namely Bancolombia (banking), Grupo Nutresa (food processing) and Grupo Argos, together with its subsidiary Cementos Argos (construction materials).

CORPORATE SUSTAINABILITY ASSESSMENT (CSA) FOR BEING ADMITTED TO THE DJSI

Progress made with our human talent Improvements to our climate change management

For the first time ever, the Company was included in the Bloomberg Gender Equity Index (GEI), as one of the 484 companies in its 2023 listing. This is the result of an assessment of the good practices implemented by Grupo SURA and its subsidiaries with special mention being made of our efforts to create a more inclusive workplace culture, as well as endorsing sexual harassment policies.

In the CDP's Report for 2022, this being an organization that promotes the disclosure of environmental commitments, Grupo SURA moved up two notches to a "B-" rating, thereby surpassing the average score on both a global and regional level. Based on this evaluation, in 2023 we shall strive to expand the coverage of our financed emission metrics and incorporate climate risk management in our investment appraisal models.

Asulado begins operations to strengthen pension insurance

This new SURA Asset Management subsidiary obtained due authorization from the Colombian Superintendency of Finance at the end of 2022 in order to offer its lines of pension insurance and annuities, as part of this subsidiary's commitment to the sustainability of the Colombian pension system. This has been the result of the capitalization and subsequent partial spin-off of the assets belonging to Protección, the pension fund management firm in which SURA AM increased its shareholding to 52.9%.

Consequently, Asulado shall initially provide pension insurance to members of Protección's pension funds, given the lack of options that has existed for several years on the local market in terms of this type of insurance plans for both fund contributors and pensioners throughout the country.

Also, for this first year, Asulado expects to handle 25 thousand annuities covering disability and survival risks. Other solutions can be offered through this Company to the clients of both Protección, as well as other pension management and occupational health and safety firms.

Patricia Restrepo Gutiérrez, a civil engineer with postgraduate studies in Risk Management, shall head up Asulado, having served as Protección's Chief Risk and Analytics Officer for more than nine years.

AFP Integra is awarded a tender for the third year in a row signing up new pension fund members in Peru

This was determined last December by the Peruvian Superintendency of Banking, Insurance and Pension Fund Management Firms (SBS), thereby allowing this subsidiary of SURA Asset Management to sign up new Peruvian workers to the Private Pension System, in which the Pension Fund Management firms operate. This tender is set to take effect as of June 2023 and last for two years.

"We continue to uphold our long-term strategy of attracting new members in order to offer them a better service and rates of return, while at the same time seeking to bring about reforms to grow the Peruvian pension system," stated Aldo Ferrini, General Manager of AFP Integra.

It is important to remember that Integra was also awarded the two previous tenders staged in 2018 and 2020, which has so far represented 800 thousand additional contributors and lowered the average age of the client base corresponding to our Savings and Retirement lines of business.

INNOVATION

With the new insurtech, Suramericana is driving the digital transformation of its different lines of business

The purpose of this subsidiary is to democratize access to insurance throughout the region, reaching 2.6 million new clients with various solutions and increasing the proportion of total written premiums that are transacted via these direct channels from less than 3% to 10% by 2025.

This new venture on the part of Suramericana is aimed at driving the digital transformation of its different lines of business and shall operate based on a startup-type of innovation model. Initially, this new platform will operate by integrating Seguros SURA in both Colombia and Chile as of 2023, and later shall connect up the other subsidiaries within the region.

In this way, we aim to reach more markets as well as segments of the population. With this we shall be taking advantage of our channel diversification, economies of scale, standardized client experience and a data-driven approach to digital relevance.

This new insurtech, backed by the SURA brand, will specialize in direct insurance marketing, after-sales service, while reaching out to non-traditional segments with solutions relating to renewable energy, tourism, agriculture, gamers, construction and mobility, among others.

The project foresees the initial development of 22 voluntary solutions involving close to 250 people over the next 5 years, 100 of whom shall be located in Colombia.

"We are aware that the needs of our users are changing, so we wish to provide them with a value proposal consisting of a more agile, intuitive and straightforward experience, designed especially for our increasingly digital and hyper-connected users".

Seguros SURA inaugurates its first wellness center in Colombia

This building was inaugurated at the beginning of February in the city of Barranquilla and has the capacity to serve 25,000 of its policyholders. Its focus shall be on providing general and specialized health care services for special populations such as maternity, early childhood and chronically ill patients.

"With this center we wish to provide our support to ensure healthy lifestyles through models that prevent, improve and anticipate health problems in this part of the country," stated Juan David Escobar, CEO of Seguros SURA Colombia.

This first wellness center also offers areas such as a healthy marketplace, a library as well as a café and shall also host art exhibitions.
