Proforma earnings per share - Breakdown¹

Figures stated in COP

Administrative calculation of net earnings per share is based on number of shares at the end of each period.

¹ Earnings per share are adjusted for the health care subsidiary EPS SURA, the non-recurring effects of the Nutresa swap (2023-2024), the earnings associated with the spin-off by absorption (2025), and the increase in liabilities due to the preferred shares issued in 2025, as well as the impairment recognized by Grupo Cibest.

The results of the first quarter of this year only go to confirm Grupo SURA's strong performance and our ability to maintain a positive momentum from the commercial and operational standpoints, even amid a challenging environment marked by extraordinary impacts such as the wealth tax levied in Colombia. The strong performance of our investments allowed us not only to absorb this significant impact but also to advance in consolidating a more efficient, and profitable financial group, one that is prepared to continue seizing opportunities for sustainable growth in Latin America.

Quarterly highlights

Conexión

(Shared Services Center)

An initiative aimed at accelerating efficiencies and strengthening business profitability throughout the region by integrating our technological and operational capabilities so as to move towards a simpler, more scalable and sustainable management.

International bond payment

With the disbursement of COP $900 billion from a line of credit taken out with a local bank, Grupo SURA was able to settle the payments on the international bonds issued in 2016 that were due in April 2026. This five-year loan does not increase the Company's debt and is part of its debt management strategy to settle its obligations with international bondholders.

Visionaries

Grupo SURA launched a benefits program for its more than 40,000 shareholders, offering experiences and discounts on health and mobility solutions from Seguros SURA, as well as from its business partners. This also includes an offer linked to the Company's Art and Culture Platform.

SURA by your side today ... and tomorrow.
